

CHARGES WALSH WITH KIDNAPING SON

After Identifying Body, W. E. Newman Swears Out Warrant at Ashland.

WERE FORMERLY PARTNERS

Young Newman Disappeared on March 4—Body Found Thursday Viewed by Father.

After positively identifying the body of his son, W. E. Newman, an ex-patrolman, swore out a warrant yesterday charging E. W. Walsh, of 1915 Meade Street, with murder. Detective Sergeant Kellam took the man into custody at his home, where he was found last night with his wife and five small children. He will be taken to Ashland today to be arraigned for a preliminary hearing on a charge of killing Howard A. Newman, whose body was found on Thursday in a clump of bushes near the South Anna River, in Hanover County.

The identification of the body was made yesterday afternoon by Mr. Newman. He carefully examined the teeth of the dead man, and recognized gold crown work. Parts of the clothing and the shoes were identified, and the whole was topped off with the discovery of a knife in one of the pockets. The knife had been given to Newman by his father the day of his disappearance, and had been overlooked by the county officers who searched the body of the dead man.

Young Newman disappeared on March 4, having set out from Dumfries with the intention of coming to Richmond. As far as could be learned for some time, and a reward of $500 was offered as an incentive for information. Newman never reached here. The body was found last Thursday, and from cards in the pockets it was thought that it was that of the missing man. WORKED WITH WALSH

AS NURSERYMAN Newman was thirty-six years old, and had been employed by a nurseryman near Dumfries for several months. Prior to his disappearance he formed a partnership with Walsh, a man of his own age, and an experienced nurseryman, and the pair did a number of small jobs together. According to the elder Newman, his son quarreled on March 4, and one of the parties was heard to say that he would "get him," meaning Newman.

The father of young Newman was formerly a member of the Richmond police force, but resigned after charges of improper conduct had been lodged against him by a comrade in the Third District. The son had been living with his father.

For several weeks after the disappearance of his son, Mr. Newman made no report, but finally called upon the local police for aid. A reward of $500 was offered for his whereabouts, and a reward of $50 for proof of his death. When the body was found by children on Thursday, it was ordered buried immediately, and the Richmond police were notified of the finding of the cards. Mr. Newman could not be located in time to disinter the body on Saturday, so it was taken up yesterday and the identification made.

FATHER BELIEVES SON

MET WITH POOL PLAY Mr. Newman has insisted all along that his son had met with foul play, and is prepared, he claims, to prove some of his charges. He has been quietly investigating, and will make known his conclusions at the hearing. Walsh, who is known to be a capable workman, was at home last night when Sergeant Kellam called with the warrant. His arrest was a severe shock to the family, and the five small children were bitterly wailing. Mrs. Walsh was almost prostrate, and was left in the charge of neighbors, who assumed care of the children.

The warrant was sworn out by Mr. Newman before G. W. Tucker, justice of the peace, at Ashland. It charges premeditated murder, and the charges here against Walsh is that of being a fugitive from justice from Hanover County.

COLONEL IS DETERMINED

Decisive Word Goes Forth That He Cannot Make Race for Governor. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 28.—Decisive word was given by Colonel Roosevelt to his Progressive friends, it was known to-day, that he cannot accept the nomination for Governor.

The ex-President intends to stand upon the advice of his physician that he is physically unfit to attempt the strenuous campaign for the governorship, even if he might be disposed to do it. Roosevelt's cabinet has been told that another candidate must be picked in his stead.

He will confer with his leaders at Progressive headquarters in New York next Wednesday, upon his return from Pittsburgh, when an effort will be made to agree on the nominee.

Roosevelt wants to keep his party intact for the 1916 presidential race, when, as it looks now, he will again shy his hat into the ring. But he wants some other candidate to bear the brunt of the State fight, and he is to have his way.

Of the gubernatorial possibilities in the Progressive field, Bainbridge Colby, of the Wall Street lawyer, appears to be the most formidable, while State Senator William H. Burdick, of El Paso, comes next on the Colonel's list. Ex-Senate Senator Hinman and Ex-Superintendent of Insurance Hopkins follow in the running.

L. & N. TRAIN WRECKED

Two Trainmen Killed, One Fatally Injured and Many Negroes Hurt. Hopkinsville, Ky., June 28.—Two trainmen were killed, one perhaps fatally injured, and many negroes hurt to-day when a negro excursion train on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, was wrecked by spreading rails three miles south of Trenton, Ky.

MYSTERY GROWS DEEPER

New Threads to Puzzling Skein in Ballou Murder Case.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Stamford, Conn., June 28.—The enigmatical stain of a masculine foot outside the door of Mrs. Helen M. Angel's studio, in the Rippowam Apartments, where Walsh and his boy met a tragic death last Tuesday night, and the discovery of a tangled mass of iron-gray hair caught in the blood-spotted mohair skirt, which the singer-divorcee has admitted she wore that night, added two new threads to the skein of mystery in the sensational murder case to-day.

Two new finds, with the partial confession of the report that Mrs. Angel telephoned to a friend for help while Ballou lay dying in the lower hall, and the report of an analyst that every stain in the Angel apartment and its approach is that of human blood, were the fruits of a day of police activity.

No progress was made toward the identification of Charlie "G." or "C." Mrs. Angel's mysterious friend of the American Navy, although it was learned by Chief of Police Brennan that men from the battleship Texas, which had been in Vera Cruz, and to which "Charlie" is supposed to be attached, have recently enjoyed a leave in New York. It was found, however, that his letters to Mrs. Angel show first acquaintance, then friendship, and closer intimacy, then a bitter quarrel, and later a reconciliation.

Two separate investigations were also begun into the identity of Mrs. Angel's mysterious visitor on Saturday afternoon, whom she told to "get them out right away and destroy them."

BIG SHAKE-UP IMMINENT

Serious Charges Against Officials of Immigration Service.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, June 28.—A big shake-up in the Immigration Service is imminent because of serious charges made against a number of its prominent officials, including F. H. Larned, the assistant commissioner-general, by Captain Frank Ainsworth, an inspector in the service stationed at San Francisco. These charges include, among other things, the making of false recommendations in property purchases for the service, lobbying, misstatements to congressional committees, incompetence, irregularities in expense accounts, destruction of records and neglect of duty.

Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Labor, admitted to-day he had received a letter from Captain Ainsworth, but that he had not taken it up for consideration. A thorough investigation is to be made by the secretary of the charges made by Ainsworth.

Larned recommended purchases by the government of a site for an immigration station at Baltimore until its location, and a price in excess of which it had held for some time. The government bought on the recommendations, but was forced to abandon the site at a loss. He is also charged with neglect of duty.

MAY REACH AGREEMENT

Secret Negotiations Between Carranza and Huerta Said to Be in Progress.

Vera Cruz, June 28.—Secret peace negotiations between General Carranza and President Huerta have been in progress in the capital, according to Antonio Magana, a close friend of Carranza, who arrived from Mexico City to-day. Magana said it was known positively that representatives of Carranza had conferred with President Huerta.

The Federalists are fortifying Aguas Calientes against a Constitutional advance, according to Magana, but it is understood in the capital, General Villa plans his next blow against Queretaro.

There are indications that the Federal forces before Vera Cruz are being rapidly reduced. It was thought in the capital that a peace agreement between Huerta and Carranza, based on Huerta's resignation, was certain to come soon, Carranza being forced to make some concessions, because of his disagreements with General Villa and Angeles.

RETURNS TO NUEVO LAREDO

Lieutenant-Colonel Murrieta Given Galt Welcome by People.

Laredo, Tex., June 28.—Lieutenant-Colonel Murrieta, commander of the Constitutionalist garrison at Nuevo Laredo, returned to his home town to-day, after a trip to Monterrey to welcome General Venustiano Carranza on his return to that city. A broken axle, which delayed the motor train, delayed Murrieta's arrival until 2 o'clock this morning. Notwithstanding the hour, elaborate plans were made to celebrate his return were carried out. The engines of the live steam locomotive rested for not having up steam to blow his whistle.

A full night late to-day concluded the festivities. Rumors were in circulation here to-day that General Carranza was contemplating the removal of his provisional capital from Saltillo to Monterrey.

FIGHT DUEL TO DEATH

Bodies of Two Men Found Less Than Block Apart.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Detroit, Mich., June 28.—John A. Burbank, president and treasurer of the Sackett Mints Hardware Company, was shot to death on Hancock Avenue early to-day. Less than a block away the body of an unknown man, also shot, was found. In Burbank's right hand a revolver of the live-fire type was grasped. A pistol with five empty cartridges was found near the unknown man's body. The police theory is that the attempt was made to hold up Mr. Burbank as he was returning home; that he refused to surrender the money in his possession, and the duel to death followed.

RAILS GIVE WAY ON "FILL"

"Royal Palm Special" Is Wrecked Near Jacksonville, Fla.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Jacksonville, Fla., June 28.—Queen and Crescent southbound fast passenger train No. 11, the "Royal Palm Special," running between Chicago and Jacksonville, was wrecked this afternoon about a mile from this place. The accident was caused by the rails giving way on a "fill." The engine and two cars rolled over a twenty-foot embankment. The train jumped, but the engineer stuck to his post, and was badly crushed. The passengers escaped serious injury, but many sustained numerous bruises.

FINDS ONE PATH TO ADJOURNMENT

Senate Convinced That It Must Take Up President's Antitrust Program.

OPEN REVOLT NOT PROBABLE

If Wilson Would Relent, Congress Could Get Away From Washington in Two Weeks.

Washington, June 28.—Convinced that there is no other path to adjournment, but the one which begins with trust legislation, the Senate will settle down this week to the steady grind of work on the Federal trade commission bill.

The Senate is far from resigned to the thought of six weeks or more of discussion of trust legislation in mid-summer, but it is not probable that the spirit of open revolt will show itself on the floor, and unless Senate leaders are at fault in the prediction, no real change of course is likely to be made. Although the Senate is divided three to two on the bill, or legislation designed to cover the same ground, will be put through by the familiar process of a vote of aye, and a vote of no.

There is no doubt whatever, that if the President would relent in his insistence upon the antitrust program, Congress could adjourn in mid-summer from Washington in two weeks or less. The House is in such shape that it could be ready to get away in a few days, and the Senate is not far behind, as far as appropriation measures are concerned. Many of these bills are still in conference, but if there was a real change of course, it would not take more than a few days to have them finally disposed of.

TRADE COMMISSION BILL IS UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The trade commission bill is the unfinished business of the Senate, the Clayton antitrust bill is still under consideration by the Judiciary Committee, and the railway capitalization bill is in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Just when the latter two measures will get to the Senate floor is still a question. The Judiciary Committee has passed the Clayton bill already passed by the House, a conference bill has been made and remanded many of its sections.

The bill deals with interlocking directorates and holding companies, with price fixing, with labor union exemption from the antitrust laws, and with the question of injunctions in labor disputes. Although many of the leading lawyers of the Senate are on the committee they have discovered their task to be most difficult and the trouble is that the bill is regarded as a prelude to the night which will come when it touches the floor.

An effort will be made by the Interstate Commerce Commission to get together on the railway bill this week. Chairman Newlands will ask representatives of the railroads and of the Interstate Commerce Commission to meet with the committee to discuss a plan proposed by Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, for the solution of railway security issues. This plan has been accepted by some railroads, but the committee desires that it be discussed between the railroads and commission representatives.

WILL CONTINUE INQUIRY INTO TRANSACTIONS

The Senate Relations Committee will continue its investigation into the transactions leading up to the negotiations of the proposed treaty with Carranza. This treaty provides a $30,000,000 loan to Carranza, the establishment of a protectorate over that country, and a guarantee by the United States of fair elections, in exchange for rights to an interoceanic canal and naval bases. It has been the object of bitter attack by several Senators, and the committee is expected to get to the bottom of transactions which preceded the negotiations. As an inquiry into the past, the committee has looked into the way in which information has leaked from its past discussions of this subject. The meeting have been extremely irregularly have come from the committee, and the Democrats of the committee particularly have been anxious to get to the bottom of it.

The Senate Banking and Currency Committee plans to meet on Thursday. An investigation of the nomination of Carranza for President by the Federal Reserve Board, to take up President Wilson's nomination under way by subcommittee, and their reports will be ready by that day.

EULOGIES TO MEMORY

The House to-day devoted a brief session to eulogies of the late Representative George Koenig, of Maryland. Tributes were paid by Representatives Coady and Lister, of that State. To-morrow will be a field day for those Representatives who want to bring up bills under a suspension of the rules, which have been given as the purpose by the House, to reach bills that otherwise might not be reached at this session of Congress.

The Lever bill for regulation of cotton futures is among the bills on the suspension calendar that rests on Speaker Clark's desk.

The general dam bill, piloted by Representative Adamson, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, will be the center of interest in the week's proceedings. It has right of way, and will be called up on Tuesday. The prospect of a live steam locomotive, the conservation and State's rights problems is involved. Back of this measure, rests a fight for consideration of the administration bills for a national leasing system, water power regulation and an adjoining public domain, and other conservation legislation. There is considerable rivalry between the Interstate Commerce Committee and the Public Land Committee, headed by Representative Ferris, of Oklahoma, over legislation along these lines.

CAMPAIGN PUBLICITY BILL

LIKELY TO BE CALLED UP The Rucker bill for extending the campaign publicity law, so as to prevent national political organizations sending large sums into any particular district and to meet the new condition of direct primaries for United States Senators is expected to be called up for action on Wednesday, unless displaced by appropriation bills. The latter must be expedited on account of the closing of the fiscal year on June 30.

Nation-wide prohibition, woman suffrage.

CALIFORNIA GOES ASHORE ON ROCKS

Anchor Line Steamer Stuck Fast, but in No Immediate Danger.

ACCIDENT ON IRISH COAST

Wireless Calls Bring Assistance, but Passengers and Crew Remain on Board.

Londonderry, June 28.—In a fog and rain that rendered Tory Island invisible from the mainland, the Anchor Line steamer California, New York for Liverpool, went ashore to-night on the rocks off that island. Wireless calls for help brought speedy assistance from several small gunboats and torpedo boats patrolling the northwest Irish coast for run runners in connection with the Ulster movement.

The latest news received here is that the California is stuck fast, but in no immediate danger. She struck with such force that the lower part of her bows was badly crushed, and she is making water through two holes in her forehold and second hold.

The steamer, which has on board 121 saloon and more than 200 cabin passengers, lies in five fathoms of water forward and seven fathoms aft. The passengers and crew still are on board. There was no panic when she struck.

Another liner, steamers and gunboats are standing by, and others will arrive during the night.

SAILED FROM NEW YORK ON JUNE 20

The Anchor Line steamer California sailed from New York June 20 for Liverpool and Glasgow. On board the vessel were 121 cabin and more than 200 second-class passengers.

Tory Island lies off the northwest coast of County Donegal, Ireland. It is a rocky reef two and one-half miles long and half a mile wide. The northern end of the island is a lighthouse.

ONLY FEW SHOTS REQUIRED

Bombardment of Puerto Plata Silenced by American Gunboats.

Washington, June 28.—Bombardment of the rebel city of Puerto Plata, by President Bordas, of Santo Domingo, was silenced late on Friday by fire from the main battery of the American gunboat Machias. Only a few shots were required for the task.

News of this incident came to the Navy Department late to-night in a belated dispatch from Puerto Plata, the headquarters of the rebellion. The Machias was sent into the inner harbor at Puerto Plata prepared for battle, after the Dominican forces several times had violated an agreement not to use artillery in attacking the rebel forces holding the port.

The captain's dispatch, dated Friday, reads: "This afternoon, when the Bordas artillery ashore fired shells into the city of Puerto Plata, the Machias anchored in the inner harbor, and with some shots from her main battery stopped the artillery fire, after which there was no further firing. We have the situation well in hand. The stopping of the artillery fire into the city will have a reassuring effect on the people, who recently have displayed anxiety about their safety."

At 3 P. M. Friday the revenue cutter Algonquin took on board forty-two persons, including three Americans, ten men, thirteen women and fifteen children, and then steamed for Santo Domingo. The Machias, after delivering main gun took away from Puerto Plata four or five men, and the revenue cutter Algonquin took away twenty-four persons. These passengers were put on board the three vessels by the South Carolina boats.

WARM WEATHER FORECAST

Continued High Temperatures Will Prevail in South.

Washington, June 28.—"Except for showers in New England and the Middle Atlantic States, fair and warm weather is forecast for the first half of the coming week over most of the country," said the Weather Bureau's bulletin for Monday, June 29. Middle and Southern districts, west of the Rocky Mountains, the Central Plains States, the Southwest, the Gulf States and the Ohio Valley, generally fair weather will prevail during the week, with continued high temperatures to the southward, and with rising temperatures over the central districts by the end of the week.

In the Missouri and Upper Mississippi Valleys and the Lake regions, fair weather with moderate temperatures will prevail. The first half of the week will be followed in the second half by week by showery weather with higher temperatures, while in the Middle Atlantic States and New England, showers are indicated with rising temperatures over both districts, and by somewhat more moderate temperatures toward the end of the week, when showers are indicated with rising temperatures.

In the South Atlantic States high temperatures will continue, with occasional relief through local thunderstorms.

MONTEREY NEW CAPITAL

Carranza Soon Will Close Up Offices in Saltillo.

Monterey, Mexico, June 28.—Monterey will become the provisional capital of General Carranza, according to a decision announced to-day. General Carranza is expected to leave on Tuesday for Saltillo, where he will be up on the Constitutionalists' officers, and in a few days move them, with his entire official family, to Monterey.

After his return here General Carranza is expected to complete his trip to Piedras Negras, Nuevo Laredo and Tampico, which he promised to make many months ago.

There has been received that the Federalists are in straits for lack of coal and oil with which to move troop trains. The fuel supply of the republic now practically is in the hands of Constitutionalists. San Martin, in the State of San Luis Potosi, has been captured by the Constitutionalists' forces, and municipal officers have been selected at a popular election.

ARCHDUKE FRANCIS FERDINAND AND DAUGHTER.

CARRANZA WANTS TIME TO CONSULT GENERALS

Must Confer With Associates Before Entering on Important Negotiations.

PLAN OF GUADALOUPE RULES

Statements Published Intimating That American Financial Interests Are Backing Revolution Denied by Constitutionalist Representative.

Washington, June 28.—General Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the Mexican Constitutionalists, has replied to the invitation extended for participation by his agents in an informal conference with representatives of General Huerta and the United States concerning plans for a provisional government in Mexico, asking that he be given time to consult with his associates. General Carranza, it was learned here to-night, informed the mediators in his latest communication that because of the plan of Guadalupe, under which he was chosen first chief of the Constitutionalists, it would be necessary for him to confer with his associates before entering such important negotiations.

Acceptance of any proposed provisional government to succeed Huerta he said, necessarily might require some change in the terms of the Guadalupe plan, and this could not be done without the consent of various military leaders in the Constitutional movement.

ASSURES ENVOYS WILL

HASTEEN CONSULTATION General Carranza is said to have assured the mediators he would hasten the proposed consultation with his chiefs. Some of the Constitutionalists' representatives in Washington still insist that General Carranza has been imposed to confer with the United States commissioners and Huerta representatives. Others, however, are not so certain of this outcome, and they insist that whatever happens, the military campaign against Huerta will be carried out with renewed vigor toward Mexico City, with Aguas Calientes, San Luis Potosi and Queretaro as the next objective points of the revolutionaries.

Many perplexing elements have developed in the situation, however, among them being the apparent disagreement between Carranza and Huerta over the recent break with Villa, and the publication of the statement attacking General Anacleto, authorized by Alfredo Braceda, general Carranza's personal aide, who came to Washington from Saltillo for this purpose.

ZUBARAN SOUGHT TO HAVE

IN THE PREPARATION of the statement attacking Angeles and confirming the fact that the breach between Villa and Carranza had not been altogether healed, Braceda was aided by Luis Cabrera, one of Carranza's principal advisers, who is advocating participation in the informal conference.

Today Carranza's cabinet, disgraced by Carranza's Cabinet, disagreed as to wisdom of giving out such a statement. Zubaran late last night, several hours after Braceda's statement had been given to the press, sought to have it recalled. Zubaran, it has become known, wanted the statement tempered at least, if it was to be published at all.

Today Fernando Iglesias Calderon, leader of the Mexican Liberal party, and Leonoldo Hurdado Espinosa, joined the Mexican Constitutionalists in Washington to await developments regarding the informal conference.

Publication to-day of certain correspondence alleged to have passed between General Carranza and Sherburne Hopkins, a Washington lawyer, relating to a plan for conserving properties of the National Railways of Mexico, aroused Constitutionalists' leaders.

TRAGEDY OCCURS AFTER ESCAPING DEATH FROM BOMB

Archduke Francis Ferdinand and Consort Victims of Bullets.

KILLED WHILE PASSING THROUGH SARAJEVO CITY

On Annual Visit to Annexed Provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

TWO ASSAILANTS CAPTURED

Student and Composer, Glorifying in Exploit, Barely Escape Lynching by Spectators.

Sarajevo, Bosnia, June 28.—Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and the Duchess of Hohenberg, his moribund wife, were shot dead to-day by a student in the main street of the Bosnian capital, a short time after they had escaped death from a bomb hurled at the royal automobile. The two were slain as they were passing through the city on their annual visit to the annexed provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina. The archduke was struck full in the face, and the duchess was shot through the abdomen and throat. They died a few minutes after reaching the palace to which they were hurried.

Those responsible for the assassination took care that it should prove effective. There were two assailants, the first armed with a bomb and the second with a revolver. The bomb was thrown at the royal automobile as it sped to the Town Hall, where a reception was to be held.

ARCHDUKE MARCHES The archduke saw the missile hurtling through the air and waved it off with his arm. It fell outside the car and exploded, slightly wounding two aides-de-camp in a second car, and half a dozen spectators.

It was on the return of the procession that the tragedy was added to the long list of those that have darkened the pages of the recent history of the Hapsburgs.

As the royal automobile reached a prominent point in the route to the palace, the archduke's aide, Gavril Princip, sprang out of the crowd and poured a deadly fusillade of bullets from an automatic pistol at the archduke and duchess.

Princip and a fellow-conspirator, a composer from Trebinje named Gavrilo, barely escaped lynching by the infuriated spectators. They finally were seized by the police. Both were natives of the annexed province of Herzegovina.

The first attempt against the archduke occurred just outside the Girls' High School, where he was making a brief pause for an inspection of the building, when Gavrilo hurriedly hurried the bomb. This was so successful that the archduke that it fell directly beneath the car. Following, the occupants of which, Count Von Boos-Waldeck and Colonel Merizovic, were struck by shrapnel of iron.

CONTINUOUS JOLT TO THE TOWN HALL Archduke Francis Ferdinand stopped his car, and, after making inquiries as to their injuries and lending what aid he could, continued his journey to the Town Hall. There the burgomaster began the customary address, but the archduke sharply interrupted and stopped out.

"Here burgomaster, we have come here to pay you a visit and bombs have been thrown at us. This is altogether an amazing indignity. After a pause, the archduke said: "Now you may speak."

On leaving the hall, the archduke and his wife, announced their intention of visiting the wounded student, Gavril Princip, at the hospital on their way back to the palace. They actually were bound on their mission of mercy, when the corner of Rudolf Strasse and Franz Joseph Strasse, Princip opened fire. The duchess fell unconscious across her husband's knee. At the same moment the archduke sank to the floor of the car.

ASSASSINS' GLORY IN THEIR EXPLOIT The assassins were interrogated by the police, and both seemed to glory in their exploit. Princip said he had studied for a time at Belgrade. He declared he had intended to kill some eminent person from nationalist motives. He was awaiting the archduke at a point where he knew the automobile would slacken speed, turning into Franz Joseph Strasse. The presence of the duchess in the car caused him to hesitate, but he went on for a moment. Then his nerve returned, and he emptied his pistol at the imperial pair. He denied he had accomplices.

Princip is eighteen years of age. Nedeljko Gavrilo is twenty-one. He told the police he had obtained the bomb from anarchists at Belgrade, whose names he did not know. He declared that he had accomplices, and treated the tragedy with cynical indifference.

After his unsuccessful attempt to blow up the imperial visitors, Gavrilo was escorted to the Miljacka River in an effort to escape, but spectators plunged after him and seized him.

A few yards from the scene of the shooting, an unexploded bomb was found, which it was suspected was thrown away by an accomplice, after he had noted the success of Princip's attack.

VICTIMS OF SECOND ATTEMPT TO KILL

The archduke and his wife were victims of the second attempt in the same day against their lives. First a bomb was thrown at the automobile in which they were driving to the Town Hall.

After the first attempt, the archduke and his wife were driven to the palace, where they were treated by the doctors. The archduke's wound was not serious, but the duchess's was. She died a few minutes later.

The archduke's death was a great shock to the world. It was the first time in over forty years that an heir to a throne had been killed.

The assassination of the archduke and his wife was a tragedy of world-wide importance. It was a tragedy that had long been in the making.
